House To Act On New Amendments Before White House

Washington, June 19.—The administration's vast social security plan, calling for the biggest tax program in the nation's history, today was shoved through the senate by a 76 to 6 majority and thereby assured final enactment.

It was shuttled quickly back to the house for action on senate amendments, including one added today to exempt private pension systems. In the main, however, it rode through the senate in a form closely approxi-

Although it excludes farm labor, domestics, casual, governmental and charity workers, the bill would create a huge national unemployment as-

Beginning next month it would offer $15 of federal money a month, if matched by state funds, for every

It also would appropriate about $50,000,000 for dependent and crippled children, mothers aid and other welfare.

Laws, Not Men, To Rule

The makers of the United States Constitution meant that ours should be a government of laws, not of men.
The Constitution lays down broad rules whereby the nation should be governed and proclaims fundamental principles. As long as the laws passed by Congress and the state legislatures are in accord with the constitutional principles, men may come and go, and the government will safeguard
the liberties of the people.

But when the people become corrupt and incapable of being guided by the constitution, despotism of men may overthrow it and substitute a government that depends for its strength
upon their own personality and power.
Whenever the people desert the constitution and put their trust in men, they may expect trouble. It would seem the nation is today suffering from this very thing.

The makers of the Constitution laid down simple principles. When men lack the patience or the willingness to frame laws in accordance with these axioms, the Supreme Court must step into the situation and bring the country back to the Constitution. The seven general ideas which form the backbone of the Constitution are outlined as follows by James M. Beck, perhaps the best known constitutional lawyer in the country.

1. Representative government.
2. The dual form of our government—
State and Federal.
3. The guarantee of individual liberty through limitations upon the power of government.
4. An independent judiciary.
5. The Supreme Court of the United States—a unique feature of the Constitution, and the indispensability of its function as the balance wheel of the Constitution.
6. The system of checks and balances—by which the framers of the Constitution sought to avert the undue concentration of power in any individual or group of men.
7. The joint power of the President and Senate in the determination of the foreign policies of the United States.

It should be remembered that the Constitution has preserved free government in this nation during periods of the greatest economic changes. It has survived two great wars. It has guided the nation thru prosperity and depression. It is as vital today as ever, and what Grover Cleveland said
of it in an address at the hundredth anniversary of its founding in Philadelphia is still true and worth reading.

"When we look down one hundred years," said he, "and see the origin of our Constitution, when we contemplate all its trials and triumphs, when we realize how completely the principles upon which it is based have met every national need and every national peril, how devoutly should we say with Franklin, 'God governs in the affairs of men.'"

"It comes to us sealed with the test of a century. It has been found sufficient in the past and it will be found sufficient in all the years to come, if the American people are true to their sacred trust."

"Another centennial day will come,
and millions yet unborn will inquire concerning our stewardship and the safety of the Constitution. God grant they may find it unimpaired; and as we rejoice today in the patriotism and devotion of those who lived one hundred years ago, so may those who follow us rejoice in our fidelity and love
for Constitutional liberty."

What Italy Wants

Mussolini has already spent $50,000, 000 on preparations for war in northeast Africa. A successful war will cost Italy much in money and men. The rainy season in the Ethiopian country will not end until September, and the hostilities will not begin until October. Should the Italians fail, the campaign may precipitate a general European war. Should they win and seek to control the gorge of the Blue

Nile, where oil is believed to be hidden, the war may become general anyway, for England depends on this river to carry oil to the Sudan and Egypt
and keep up the fertility of the cotton lands in these regions.

It is believed that Mussolini is taking these grave chances in order to obtain oil. His war tanks and trucks are powered by oil-burning engines, and he must know the source of fuel else he would never have permitted the use of machinery so designed. There are those who think the Italian government knows of hidden Ethiopian resources. A rich trade with the people of the region in cattle, hides, grain and other products, and a location for Italian colonies and traders on the Ethiopian plateau are almost certain rewards of a successful conquest.

Long Way to Go

Some scientists believe this old world is good for one quadrillion years
yet. They estimate that the earth is already three billion years old, which is somewhere within our comprehension, as we have read much of the spending of billions the past two years.

But to comprehend a quadrillion is something else. Perhaps we may learn to understand it some day when the national debt has time to grow.
Anyhow it's a long way to go, and if man continues to stick around that long, he should accumulate a lot of knowledge and experience.

He might even evolve a better civilization and a more comfortable and pleasant way of life. He should in that time learn to get along with his fellows without resorting to war, and to meet the needs of society without increasing taxes. He may even get rid of jazz music, crooners, double parking, and Senate filibusters. He may even find a way to keep recipes for fried oysters out of the Congressional Record, or perhaps he may even eliminate the Record, or is this too much to expect?

The fact that the world is to last a whole quadrillion years gives us hope.
We were afraid it might come to an end before the human race had a chance to amount to anything. We have already spent a million years
here and prospects for betterment
were beginning to look rather bad.
But with such a long lease on life,
there is still a chance for us to make good.

DIFFERENT WHEN BUSINESS IS BOSS.

The theory that we are on the eve
of a great boom in prosperity is said to be based on the fact that in five years or so after the great depression
of 1929 and 1933, a boom took business unawares.

We hope it is sound theory. It may be important, however, to consider that in those years the government wasn't borrowing billions and running a heavy deficit, that it did not tie up business in the difficulties and uncertainties of NRA, AAA and other schemes but left business alone to make and multiply itself and that, with far less gold in our monetary stock,
the dollar was still the traditional dollar.

Precedent may apply now, when government is assuming to say what business may and may not do while leaving business uncertain whether or not to venture to do much.—Springfield Union.

went an operation, will someone please

Real Estate Looks Up

Major Angus and his "boom" have come and gone, more quickly than most of us could realize. So now we may prepare for some other prophet with a boom that looks promising.

At hand is a report from one Roy
S. Wenzlick, a real estate analyst of St. Louis, who predicts a boom for around 1940-41, if we can hold on until then. Mr. Wenzlick has made a study of real estate conditions in 276 cities of the United States, and the surprising thing about his conclusions from this study is the fact that he finds a close parallel between marriages and real estate activity.

Marriages, he finds, are increasing and while, during the years of depression, many newly married couples lived with their parents in one home, there's a tendency today not only to live apart, but to break up the households where such doubling up prevailed.

And that means greater demand
for apartments and greater promise for real estate, and when real estate looks up, says Mr. Wenzlick, we can expect everything else to be encouraging.

A Man With a Wide Range of Thought Is Huey Long...
He Talks of a Little of This and a Lot of That... And
On and On and On Goes
His Filibuster Speech.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington.—What the galleries
laughed at during Senator Huey Long's
all-night filibuster.

Mr. Long: A chicken snake will swallow every egg in the nest and then crawl through a rail fence and break the eggs, so as to get the benefit of the nutrition. . . I sit here and listen to most of the senators and if I can stand them, they can stand me. . .

May I ask senators if they will make known to me, by whatever sign they can, without my losing the floor, whether or not they have read the decision in the chicken-coop case which was before the United States Supreme Court? I see only one hand raised and that is the hand of the senator from Idaho (Mr. Borah). . .

Mr. President, a gizzard is better roasted than boiled. I found that out years ago. Always roast a gizzard;
never fry a gizzard.

Takes Biblical Trend

Mr. Bone: I missed that quotation.
Mr. Long: I knew the senator would finally be converted! "There is more rejoicing in heaven over one sinner that repenteth than over ninety-and-nine just persons, which need no repentance."

Mr. Bone: I feel myself weakening.
I do not know how long I shall be able to stand up under it. . .

Mr. Long: Ephraim is joined to Israel; let him arise.

Mr. Ashurst: "His idols!"

Mr. Long: No, it does not say "his idols." It says. . . Most people think I am a Catholic and am talking here tonight to keep people from the Shriners' parade. I want it understood that it is not so. I am a member of the Baptist Church. . .

The Vice President. Occupants of the galleries will refrain from demonstrations of approval or disapproval.

And So On and On

Mr. Long: Of course if those in the galleries approve of what I say it will be all right for them to write me a nice letter. In case I should run for office you can enclose a little contribution for the next campaign. . .

We are getting a better crowd here.
The word has got around that I am making a marvelous speech. . . Let us preserve that custom which makes every man here call every other man here a learned senator whether he knows he is or not. . .

The chair ought to look at me. The chair cannot be hurt any more by looking at me than I am by looking at the chair. . . Mr. President, I demand order! I demand order! I demand order!

I have decided I do not want to go home tonight. I have seen times when I felt worse than I do now, but I did not want to go home. What is the use of anybody going home now?
Where are you going to find any better company than this? It is not counting anybody anything. If I could get home, I should want to come right back here anyway. So I think we ought to stay here.

Now we get back to Ecclesiastes, and I will read some more from Ecclesi-astes. . . I have walked 18 hours and counted the lies and I know anybody who can walk 18 hours can talk 18 hours.

Food For Wild Life
On Illinois FarmsLandowners Should Plant
Grain Patches For Winter Game Cover

Urbana, Ill.—Now is the time for Illinois landowners to plant grain patches which will serve as food and cover this winter for game birds and other wild life, advises R. E. Yeatter, game specialist of the State Natural History survey here.

Upon his return from a week's inspection in the field, Dr. Yeatter reports considerable interest on the part of farmers and landowners in the survey's program to increase the game population of the state by natural means. In answer to requests concerning management of areas wholly or in part devoted to game, cropping, Dr. Yeatter recommends the planting of two classes of small grains.

"One type," he counsels, "should have stiff, hardy stems that will not lodge under snow. Grain sorghums advocated by the University of Wisconsin are wheatland milo, also sorghum, fetterita, kafir corn and gra-homa. All will provide abundant winter food and emergency shelter as well."

The second type of planting should be a cane sorghum which will lodge
under the snow but last over winter and provide food in early spring. Black amber or red amber varieties are the choice of the University of Illinois agronomy department, according to Dr. Yeatter.

These grains should not be mixed, Dr. Yeatter advises, but planted at least in separate rows of food patches at the rate of ten pounds of seed to the acre. Food patches ought to be wherever possible near hedges or other bushy cover where quails and other game and winter bird visitors stay during winter.

Waste places and areas hard to cultivate are ideal farm locations for food plantings, the game specialist states.

"We have a number of landowners in several sections of Illinois who devoted pieces of land to game food," Dr.
Yeatter reports, but farmers who cannot set aside definite areas for plantings very often have some fence

corner, brush pile, or trash heap of old wire and machinery in some out of the way place on their property. These spots house upland game when further protected with food patches and left otherwise undisturbed."

Miss Ainsworth and William M. Petefish United in Marriage

Former Illinois College Man and Cass County School Teacher Wed Tuesday

Miss Helen Ainsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor P. Ainsworth, and William M. Petefish, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Petefish of Virginia, were married at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at a pretty home wedding in the home of the bride's parents in Sangamon Bottom.

Rev. H. D. Trickey, pastor of Sangamon Bottom Presbyterian church, pronounced the marriage vows before an improvised altar of honeysuckle and roses arranged before the fireplace in the living room of the Ainsworth home.

Miss Margaret McClure of Webster Grove, Mo., and Paul Ainsworth, brother of the bride, were the attendants.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. H. D. Trickey played "Trauerli" by Schumann and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" by St. Saens, and Miss Mariana Trickey sang, "O Promise Me" and "At Dawning."

The bride entered the living room on the arm of her father, who gave her away in marriage. She wore a pale pink lace dress and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. Miss McClure wore a light blue lace dress and carried Brier Cliff roses.

Following the ceremony the guests were invited to the dining room where a delicious ice course was served.

The couple left immediately on a motor trip, the destination of which was not announced.

Yankees Check Tommy Bridges' Winning Streak In 12 Innings

Braves and Cubs Divide Two Games as Bob Smith Defeats Warneke and Bill Lee Wins

Boston, June 19.—(AP)—The Boston Braves and the Chicago Cubs divided two hard fought games today, the Braves winning the first by a 2-1 margin, and the visitors taking the second 3-0.

Bob Smith hooked up with Lonnie Warneke in an old-fashioned pitching duel in the first encounter, Smith allowing seven hits, while the Braves were held to six. The Tribesmen tallied once in the first inning on Berger's long fly after Jordan and Hal Lee had singled, and brought in their second marker in the fourth on Berger's two base hit and Les Mallon's single.

The Cubs counted in the sixth on Hack's double, after which Rabbit Maranville's low throw past first base on O'Dea's grounder permitted the Cubs' third baseman to cross the plate. The visitors made a determined rally in the ninth, but sensational catches by Randy Moore and Wally Berger retired the side without damage.

Big Bill Lee collected his seventh victory of the year in the nightcap, shutting out the McKeehan clan with five scattered hits.

Lazzeri Batting In Runs For Yankees

Hitting Only 268 But He's Tough When Hit And Run Signal Is Flashed

By ANDY CLARKE
Beside the name of Tony Lazzeri on the batting list is the unimpressive average of .268.

But those figures don't tell the story. Ask Tony's Yankee teammates what they think of him, and they will say he is a truly great second baseman; a baseball man who thinks more in terms of team success than of personal aggrandizement.

Lazzeri has the faculty of coming through in the pinches. When the hit-and-run is on, he is probably the most dangerous man in the American League at the plate. Whether the pitch is down the middle or a pitch out, Lazzeri seldom misses it.

Lazzeri has batted in 41 runs so far this season, and since the first of June he has belted home 17 runs on 15 hits.

Tony's worth doesn't end on the attack. His defense record, with the exception of one bad sprig, has been well-nigh perfect. At the beginning of the season he went for a long stretch without making a miscue. Everyone began talking about him and Tony suddenly became over-conscious of it, choked up and made four errors in the course of a few days. Then he settled back again and hasn't made another error since.

Heavy rains turned the ball parks into inland lakes yesterday and not a single game was played in either league. So the boys sat around the hotels and discussed the indignant outburst of Frankie Frisch whose championship club is beginning to leak a little in the seams.

Having in mind the way the Giants are rolling along, the boys were a little skeptical of those old, old words, "We're not licked yet, the season is still young, we're playing to win."

The boys were of the opinion that these words, poured out after the Cards had taken a 14-3 defeat at the hands of the Terrymen, were the words of a man attempting to fight off an inevitable conviction.

Dizzy Dean, it would seem, is also trying to give the impression he is confident the Cards will come through. Before the rout the other day he yelled to Allyn Stout who was hitting fungoes in front of the Cards dugout.

"Hey, Stout, pretty lucky gettin' traded from a last-place club to a second-place outfit."

"Whadaya mean, second place outfit?" retorted Stout. "Don't you read the papers?"

"Sure," said the irrepressible Dizzy. "but we're letting you guys get a little head so we can make it interesting in September when we pass you."

Senators Win First, Indians Cop Second

Cleveland, June 19.—(AP)—A home run outburst, featuring Hal Trosky's tenth and eleventh circuit drives of the season, enabled the Indians to defeat Washington 10 to 5 in the second game of today's double header after they had seen victory snatched away from them in the last two innings of the opener. The Senators won that game 11 to 8, scoring four runs in the eighth and seven in the ninth after Thornton Lee had held them to six hits in the first seven frames.

Only a little work has to be done to get ready for this year's annual tennis tournament, we've been told. The nets that catch low shots have to be re-strung.

We have received some assurance that a couple players from Carrollton will be out after the district tennis title. Al Pearce probably will head up the Carrollton delegation.

White Hall's two tennis courts back of the high school weren't put into condition this year during the spring because of the rain, and as a result, there hasn't been as much tennis played there as in the past.

Both Floyd Newkirk and Dave Lawless, local flingers now casting in organized baseball, made one trip to the hill last week. Newkirk stayed through the nine innings and won his game, while Lawless was taken out of his game in the fifth inning.

Newkirk gave evidence that he is back in form. He held the second place Oakland team in the Pacific coast league to three blows. Moreover, a former Monmouth college player, getting one of them. According to our calculations Newkirk now has won five and lost one this year.

Lawless, who is now pitching with York-Penn league, started against the last place Elmira club in the New Hazleton last week, and left in the fifth inning with the score tied at three all. He gave four hits in five innings but walked eight men.

Emmett McCann is the new manager of the Elmira team, and he obtained several new players to bolster the club as his first piece of business. Lawless was one of two pitchers he obtained to strengthen his mound staff.

Grange Will Coach Backfield For Pros

Turns Down Head Coach Job Of Bears To Start In Backfield Work

Chicago, June 19.—(AP)—His playing days finally at an end, Harold "Red" Grange, the "galloping ghost" of the gridiron, today accepted a position as backfield coach of the Chicago Bears of the National Professional Football League, a team he played with for nine seasons.

George Halas, president-coach of the Bears, offered Grange the job as head coach, but the famous red head said he would rather have a less responsible task as a starter.

When Grange turned in his uniform following the final game of the Bears' west tour last winter, he had completed his 237th game of football, all regulation games. A statistician figured that in those games, he gained 32,820 yards, carried the ball 4,013 times, scored 531 touchdowns and a total of 3,366 points and compiled an average gain of 8.2 yards per try.

The games included in those statistics were played in high school, at the University of Illinois, and for the Chicago Bears.

Solters Shows Red Sox Hitting Form

Browns Drop First But Win Second From Boston Red Stockings

St. Louis, June 19.—(AP)—Julius Solters, clouting St. Louis outfielder, was a ranking sore to Boston pitchers today as the Browns divided a twin billing with the Red Sox, taking the nightcap 6 to 3 after dropping the first game 8 to 5.

The former Red Sox player, traded to the Browns for Oscar Melillo, continued his fast hitting pace by knocking two home runs in the first game and a double and two singles in the second off the offerings of his former teammates, Wes Ferrell and John Welch.

hitting his second circuit drive of the day, Malone then took up the struggle with two out in the last half of the inning. Charley Gehring belted one into the right field bleachers for a homer.

Homers also figured importantly in the lopsided opening game as Lefty Gomez received the best support his mates have given him this season. Lou Gehrig made his eighth boundary belt with two on base. Fox's first homer and one by Gerald Walker were the most effective Tiger blows.

Classy Field Will Seek Singles Title

Eight Good Singles Players Sign Up For Tourney; 4 Doubles Teams

Although the field may be small, the caliber of the players seeking the city tennis singles championship has assured its success even at this early stage. Eight players have signed up for the tournament which opens next Monday on the MacMurray college courts.

Of the eight players who have entered the singles tournament, four of them have been top-notchers for several years, and the other four are making their first bid for the title. The field at present includes Kenneth Chenoweth, chop stroking star of the Illinois College team; Jack Moriarty, another member of the college team who has developed well during the past year; Bill Clark, a southpaw who has been up in the semi-finals at least once.

Newcomers are Bob Schwartz, who is rated by many as the coming city champion, Harold Jenkins, a Missouri lad who has won tennis laurels, and James Lacey and Paul Findley, two juniors who have qualified for the tournament.

Entries for the Journal and Courier's ninth annual tournament will close Saturday noon, and players who are contemplating entering the tournament are urged to do so immediately in order to be sure and get in ahead of the deadline. Pairings will be made Saturday afternoon.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, minerals, water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a truck, had taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel up and up. They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of substitutes. 25¢ at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

McCarty and daughter, Miss Adelaide returned home Tuesday afternoon, having spent the past two weeks in Dorchester, Nebraska, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Freidell. Mrs. Freidell, formerly Miss Grace McCarty, returned home for a ten days' visit. The trip was made by auto.

Open Air Theatre, Once Pride of City, May Be Filled In This Summer

The Greek theater, pride of civic enterprise here 10 years ago, appears to be doomed. Within a short time, if citizens living in the vicinity have their way about it, the big declivity will be filled in. "Fill'er up" was the plea of a group of citizens when they appeared before the city council Monday night.

A few years ago no one would have dared mention such a thing. The community was at one time proud of the open air auditorium, though it was never an outstanding financial success. Attractions there seemed to be officially linked before the performers went before the footlights. The skies had a habit of opening up about curtain time and driving the audiences to cover.

The proposal of the citizens' committee to do away with the bowl and convert the area into a small park has thus far drawn no organized opposition. Members of the council are said to be seriously considering the job of doing away with the theater.

Used During Centennial
Ten years ago this fall thousands of persons, attracted by the novelty of the new outdoor auditorium, witnessed the Jacksonville Centennial pageant there. It was believed by many that the bowl would become one of the most popular places of assembly in this section of the state.

But something went wrong. The weather was cool, the nights rainy. A series of civic programs were completely washed out. Spasmodic efforts were made to revive interest in possibilities of the huge bowl, but the public turned a chilly eye on the proceedings.

Movies were tried at the Greek theater. Variety programs got only

Want a Park Instead

Citizens living in City Place, Woodland Place and West College avenue may at one time have been proud of the Greek theater. Right now, a number of them have gone on record as favoring a complete abandonment of the place. They have visions of a level, well kept little park in place of the unsightly, dilapidated hole in the earth.

The matter has been referred to the public improvement committee for a report back at the next council meeting. It is proposed to use relief labor on the job of filling in the pit. The concrete would be broken up with sledges and pulled to the bottom. Tractors then would be used to complete the task.

On City Property
The bowl is located on city property which also holds the gravity tank of the municipal water system. Reservoir park is the official title of the spot, which is controlled by the water department.

Citizens will recall with ease the campaign that led up to the building of the theater. It was Centennial year—something must be done to celebrate the event in a big way. There was an exposition during the summer, followed by a week of pageantry in the fall.

The bowl was built by popular subscription. Work upon it was rushed during the last few days. The concrete was hardly dry when the first audience filled in to see the Centennial pageant.

Citizens interested in the movement for abandonment advocate park board control for the place. They believe it can be made into a real beauty spot and maintained much in the same way as Duncan and Central parks.

Mr. Vannier has been prominent in church, lodge and American Legion affairs and has many friends who will regret to learn that he and his family will leave Jacksonville.

Ex-Opera Singer Is Found Dead In Lake

Chicago, June 19.—(P)—The body of a woman taken from Lake Michigan on May 28 and buried two weeks later in Potter's field, was identified today from photographs as that of Madame Mary L. Bosler, 45, former opera singer and music teacher and a friend of the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick.

The identification was made by Mrs. Julia Van Cleave Fish, a portrait painter and friend of Madame Bosler, who retained Attorney Robert M. Woodward to seek her friend after she disappeared from her hotel. Proceedings will be started tomorrow to have the body exhumed, the attorney said.

Woodward declared he did not believe Madame Bosler had committed suicide. Experts at the coroner's office said they believed a wound on her temple was made during the body's submergence. Ferd and Meyer and Sophia Meyer of New York, brother and sister of Madame Bosler, were notified of the identification.

Choate Plans To Quit Alky Board

Washington, June 19.—(P)—In a clash with Democratic members of the House ways and means committee, Joseph H. Choate, Jr., chairman of the Federal Alcohol Administration, tonight said he would resign soon and return to private law practice in New York.

Choate appeared before the committee at a hearing tonight in behalf of legislation to create an agency to control the alcohol industry to replace the FACA which died with the Supreme Court's decision on the old NRA.

Asserting the bill before the committee was not one sponsored by the FACA but apparently drafted by Democratic members of the committee, Choate said the provision putting the control agency under the secretary of the treasury was a "fatal defect."

Missouri G. O. P. Leader Is Killed

Macon, Mo., June 19.—(P)—Dr. E. B. Clements of Macon, republican national committeeman for Missouri, was killed in an automobile accident near Monroe City, Mo., late tonight.

Dr. Clements died at a hospital soon after he was brought here from the scene of the accident, a collision between the motor car in which he was riding, and a truck.

Miss Dora Holman, Clements' secretary and Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Lacey of Macon were injured. Lacey is chairman of the Macon county republican committee.

left-over corner of a dark basement industrial arts laboratories in some and more on the main floor.

Following the banquet the delegates were entertained by the dramatic club of the Illinois School with two one act plays. The first play was given through the use of signs and finger spelling. Of special significance in the second play was the fact that all parts were spoken and that two out of three of the players were totally deaf and one hard of hearing.

Handicapped Children

Although the White House Conference estimated the number of physically handicapped children needing special education as reaching into the millions, scarcely 100,000 are enrolled in day and residential schools at the present time. Dr. Elise H. Martens of the U. S. Office of Education, Washington, Wednesday told delegates to the convention of teachers of the deaf at the Illinois school.

Important proposed changes in the entrance examinations for Gallaudet College, only college in the world exclusively for deaf students, were discussed at the same session by Prof. Irving S. Fushfeld, Washington.

Dr. Martens, who is senior specialist in the education of exceptional children, declared present efforts toward enrollment in this field are "merely scratching the surface" and that reasons may be found in a lack of understanding of the problem, in indifference to it, or in financial inability to meet it.

Reports made to the Office of Education in 1931 showed 19,234 deaf and hard of hearing children in day and residential schools; 19,638 blind and partially seeing children; 24,020 delicate children, and 15,166 crippled children.

Urges Centralized Control

He stressed centralized and unified form of control in the various states for the education of exceptional children. She said that California, the only state which has all day schools directly under the supervision of the principals of the residential schools, has pointed the way toward unified supervision.

Bureaus for special education are exceedingly valuable, she said, yet only thirteen states have adopted this form of control. "Day schools and residential schools must supplement each other," Dr. Martens said. "They constitute a vital part of the educational service of the state." She gave the opinion that states should help bear the excess cost involved in the education of handicapped children in day schools and regretted the fact that only sixteen states appropriate money for that purpose at present.

U. S. Pledges Assistance

Dr. Martens said that the U. S. Office of Education desires to suggest aid and not to "dictate" to the states in dealing with the education of exceptional children. She denied the rumor that the federal government is seeking funds under the social security act for "consolidating and grouping together under one roof all handicapped children." She said that the Office of Education sees hope to obtain a sum of money for furthering the cause of education of exceptional children but that it would not be used in any manner to take away control from or dictate to the states or communities where such work is now being carried on.

Prof. Fushfeld described the studies which have been made by Gallaudet College to decrease the number of failures among first year students. Out of a class of 37 enrolling in the fall of 1934, 12 had to drop out in June owing to an inability to continue with the work he said.

"This statement epitomizes a condition that occurs each year," Prof. Fushfeld stated. "Is it necessary to subject a third of the entering class to the trying experience of failure? This is a problem which our faculty is attempting to solve and with the help of the schools a solution may be attained."

Talks of Gallaudet

The college plans a complete modification of entrance examination requirements was made by the speaker. He said that it is likely that the old plan of sending written examinations to the schools will be radically altered and that a comprehensive standard achievement test will be substituted. Certification from the schools showing the student had successfully completed a required course of study would also be necessary for admission.

Justification for the proposed change is found in the study of achievement tests given the past few years, he said. The entering class of 37 students in 1934 took this examination and the striking feature was that of the 18 who made grades above the median, only two were obliged to drop out at the end of the year, and that of the 18 who were below the median, 10 or more than half, failed during the year.

Ask Springfield College Be Closed

Cleveland, June 19.—(P)—Discontinuance of Concordia Seminary, at Springfield, Ill., an institution founded in 1846, was recommended today by the "steering committee" of the 36th triennial convention of the Missouri Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The committee recommended the continued operation of Concordia College, a preparatory school, at Portland, Ore. The proposals were then opened for final syndical action.

The convention also is to determine whether to continue St. Paul's College, Concordia, Mo., and Concordia College, Conover, N. C.

Airline To Mexico Will Open Today

Chicago, June 19.—(P)—Linking Chicago by air with Mexico and nearly 30 Central and South American countries, Braniff Airways tomorrow will inaugurate a new passenger service to Brownsville, Tex. Direct connections will be made at Brownsville with south-bound Pan American Airways transports. T. E. Braniff, president of the airline, said the new service, will cut 13 hours off the old 28-hour schedule between Chicago and Brownsville.

City officials and consuls of Mexico, Guatemala, Honduras, and Costa Rica will attend christening ceremonies at the municipal airport here tomorrow night for the first flight of the "Starlight Express."

Driver's License Bill Is Advanced

Springfield, Ill., June 19.—(P)—The Ward bill to require drivers of automobiles in Illinois to obtain licenses was passed by the senate today, 39 to 0, and sent to the house.

A similar bill in the house has not been called for a vote and observers said there was small chance for a driver's license bill to pass both houses.

Fair And Warmer Is Forecast For State

Chicago, June 19.—(P)—Forecaster J. R. Lloyd tonight issued a "fair and warmer" prediction as a storm area which brought unseasonably heavy rains to Illinois and adjoining states moved out of this area after a four day stay.

"The storm, unusually well developed, moved slowly in from the west, and during its movement sucked in great quantities of warm moist air from the Gulf of Mexico, which accounted for the heavy precipitation," Lloyd said.

Tonight the storm area was centered over Grand Rapids, Mich., he said, after taking an erratic course which sent it across Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, and northward over Milwaukee. Behind it, it left records of heavy rainfall, including more than three inches in Chicago, bringing the total for the past 19 days of June to 3.72 inches. Downstate the precipitation was even heavier.

Voluntary Training Begins In Ethiopia

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, June 19.—(P)—Voluntary part-time military training for every male Ethiopian over 17 years of age today as officials asserted this empire, if need be, could put an army of 800,000 well-armed men in the field.

Echoing Emperor Haile Selassie's oft-repeated statement that Ethiopia would be ready to fight "if forced to defend her independence," the officials said armament and equipment would show "incomparable superiority" over that the Ethiopian had at Addis.

(An ill-armed and ill-equipped, though numerically superior, Ethiopian army of about 100,000 men, smashing a force of 13,000 at Addis on March 1, 1896, killing an estimated 7,000 white and native Italian troops and taking some 3,000 prisoners.)

Split Over Utility Bill In Committee

Washington, June 19.—(P)—A sharp split over the administration utility bill yawned between the White House and Capitol Hill today when a house group virtually extracted from the measure the "death sentence" for holding companies just as President Roosevelt re-emphasized his advocacy of the provision.

But the utility struggle that has raged for weeks threatened to prove only a tempest in a teapot in comparison with the fight foretold by Mr. Roosevelt's surprise recommendation today that taxes be employed for simplification of our corporate structures through the elimination of unnecessary holding companies in all lines of business.

O. B. Gorin, Decatur Banker Passes Away

Decatur, Ill., June 19.—(P)—O. B. Gorin, 86, president of the Millikin National Bank and one of Central Illinois' leading bankers for 50 years, died this evening.

He succeeded to the presidency of the Millikin bank on the death of its founder, James Millikin, in 1909, after having begun his banking work at the age of 18.

Gorin's philanthropies made him well known, and he was especially interested in the Boys' Opportunity Home.

50 Men Become Ill In Federal Camp

Indianapolis, June 19.—(P)—For the second time within a week here widespread illness developed today among federal transient bureau inmates.

Fifty men, all employed on FERA projects, suffered cramps and dysentery today. Four physicians administered aid. The victims said the symptoms were similar to those of last week, when 205 men became ill. One died a few days later.

The men made ill today ate food from the same kitchen that supplied the lunches last week.

FEDERAL JURY NAMES THREE IN THEFT OF DIAMONDS FROM PLANE

Springfield, Ill., June 19.—(P)—Indictments charging three Carlinville youths with the theft of diamonds from the mail shipment of a Chicago & Southern Airlines plane which crashed and burned near Carlinville on May 28 were returned today by a federal grand jury.

Those indicted were Herman Wilson, Henry Cummings and Leo Cummings. Officials said the diamonds were part of a shipment carried on the plane when it left Chicago for New Orleans. The pilot and a passenger were killed when the plane crashed.

WOULD OUST ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT FROM HIS POLITICAL POSITION

Dallas, Tex.—(P)—Rumbles of contention among Texas Democrats were heard today after it was disclosed a plan was on foot to oust Elliott Roosevelt from the vice-presidency of the Young Democratic clubs of Texas.

Phil Overton, Dallas, member of the state Democratic executive committee, said the movement to remove the president's son from the office would be launched Friday at a meeting of the Dallas County Young Democrats.

Overton said he would introduce a resolution demanding Roosevelt's removal "because he had attempted to have the state convention at Amarillo go on record in favor of a proposed Constitutional amendment over-riding the Supreme Court's outlawing the NRA."

Wittie said the situation exists because of the fact that no official records were kept of burials in the state prior to 1890. He estimated that approximately 1,000 cemeteries and more than 500 small burial grounds have passed out of existence since the first settlers came to Illinois.

ESTIMATE 100,000 UNIDENTIFIED GRAVES

Chicago, June 19.—(P)—Unknown graves of more than 100,000 dead exist in Illinois, members of the Illinois Association of cemetery officials were told today at their annual meeting here by M. F. Wittie, president of the organization.

Wittie said the situation exists because of the fact that no official records were kept of burials in the state prior to 1890. He estimated that approximately 1,000 cemeteries and more than 500 small burial grounds have passed out of existence since the first settlers came to Illinois.

Japs Renounce Plans For Conquest, Claim

Believe Difficulties With China Have Been Solved

Tientsin, China.—The Japanese military was reported today to have apparently renounced any plans for armed action in China as a result of the Chinese government's capitulation to far-reaching North China demands. Japanese spokesmen inferred that China, by dismissing General Sun Chieh-Yuan as governor of Chahai province and ordering the 132nd Chinese division to evacuate the province, had brought issues there "to the stage of amicable settlement."

The correspondent of Reuters, British news agency, reported that even extremists among the Japanese war officers appeared satisfied—for the time being, at least—by the settlement and apparently had foregone any idea of armed activities.

(A high government spokesman expressed confidence at Tokyo that the crisis would pass "without the necessity of military operations by the Japanese army in Chinese territory.")

Japan's "Lawrence of Manchuria," Maj. Gen. Kenji Doihara, announced these major terms of the settlement and said a final agreement would be reached at Kalgan, near the scene of the Changpei incident, one of North China's sorest spots, arising from the arrest of several Japanese.

Only 800 new arrivals manned the Japanese garrison here as a like number of veteran soldiers headed back for Japan, their year-long tour of duty accomplished.

State Rests Case Against D. Barry

Chicago, June 19.—(P)—The state rested its case today in the retrial of Dave (Long Count) Barry, fight referee, and Attorney Abraham Karatz of St. Paul, charged with embezzling $55,000 from the Amalgamated Trust and Savings Bank.

Defense attorneys, whose motion for a directed verdict of acquittal was overruled by Judge Michael Feinberg, said Barry would take the stand in his own defense tomorrow.

A surprise witness was called by the state today when Frank Bianca, 20, nephew of Joseph Balata, testified he saw checks totaling $26,000 drawn in Barry's Chicago tavern. He said after his uncle told him the money was to be used to buy an Indianapolis bank, he was sent to cash the checks but that Otto Van Derk, 23-year-old clerk at the Amalgamated Trust and Savings, refused to honor them.

Missouri Officers Shoot Down Suspect

Willow Springs, Mo., June 19.—(P)—Officers tonight were uncertain over the identity of a bandit suspect, shot to death here today, who at first was believed to be Harry Campbell, indicted Bremer kidnaper and associate of Alvin Karpis.

Two Springfield, Mo., detectives, who made the tentative identification, said later finger prints of the slain man and those of Campbell did not check. In all other respects the dead man and descriptions of Campbell were identical, they said.

A cordon of local officers and state highway troopers continued to comb a wooded area near here for a man and woman companion of the slain man. The trio was suspected in the holdup of a Poplar Bluff, Mo., night club last night during which Oscar Murphy, a musician, was shot and wounded.

Sentence Oklahoma Co-ed For Shooting

Tablequah, Okla., June 19.—(P)—Lois Thompson, attractive young co-ed of northeastern Oklahoma Teachers College, was convicted of assault with intent to kill Daniel Shaw, Chinese student, by a district court jury tonight. The jury fixed the penalty at 30 days in jail.

The jury reached its verdict after more than seven hours of deliberation. The girl shot and dangerously wounded the oriental student of American Indian lore as they walked on the steps of a college building and then fired again as he ran screaming across the campus. She charged Shaw was responsible for extortion notes she had received and "shot to kill" in self defense.

Lily Damita Weds Actor In Arizona

Yuma, Ariz., June 19.—(P)—Lily Damita, vivacious French film star and Errol Flynn of Dublin, Ireland former boxing champion and now an actor, were married here late today. Yuma's famous "marrying judge," Justice Ernest A. Freeman, performed the ceremony.

Miss Damita and Flynn both gave their ages as 26.

The aviator who brought them here from Los Angeles this afternoon, Bu Ernst, was the best man. Court attendances were the witnesses.

THIEVES GET CIGARETS AND CHANGE AT FILLING STATION

Burglars entered the Farmers' O company filling station on West Walnut street Tuesday night, forcing open three doors during their search of the building. Only parts of three cartons of cigarettes and a few pennies were taken. No attempt was made to get oil or gasoline.

The filling station is located near the city limits on the Chapin road. It has been burglarized on several other occasions.

PRESSHog Prices Slip As Trading Slows

Chicago, June 19.—(P)—Hog prices slipped down again today, closing 10 to 15 cents lower than yesterday. At noon prices were unevenly 10 to 20 cents down, but heavy weights managed to regain 5 and 10 cents of the loss to sell at the final gong at $8.85-$9.55.

Trading all day was slow, and the top price was $9.70 paid for good medium weights, 20 cents under yesterday's peak. Receipts were 13,000 of which 6,000 went directly to the major packers.

News from the cattle runs was more cheerful for the producer. Receipts were curtailed, there being but 5,000 arrivals. In general trade was more active and at the close all grades of steers were up 25 cents. All other classes were unevenly higher with bulls and vealers firm.

Prime steers of the lot were unsold because sellers would not yield, and it looked at the close as though they would be successful in getting $13.00 tomorrow. The top price for steers sold was $12.25. Best yearlings brought $11.50. Best fed heifers crossed the scales at $10.25.

The market was fairly active on all classes of live mutton. Spring lambs were steady to 25 cents up, for producers were determined that price cuts had gone far enough.

Bond Market Turns
To Utility Issues

New York, June 19.—(P)—Public Utility Holding company issues occupied top-ranking position on the bond market today reflecting satisfaction in investment circles with the latest turn in the struggle over holding company legislation being carried on in Washington.

Other divisions of the corporate list were sharply divided into opposing camps with railroad bonds upset by weakness in some of the southern carrier obligations and industrial displays independent strength. High grade issues were neglected while U. S. governments showed little change despite a pickup in trading activity.

The Associated Press average of 10 utility bonds advanced 3/4 of a point to new 1935 territory at 94.2. Prominent gainers included American & Foreign Power 5s, Columbia Gas 5s, American Water Works 6s, North American 5 1/2s and Niagara Shares 5 1/2s.

Grains Forced Down
By Selling Pressure

Chicago, June 19.—(P)—Persistent selling pressure brought about decided downturns of grain values today, influenced by uncertainty over Canadian wheat marketing affairs and by reported improvement of crops.

A specially disturbing factor was the circumstance that the Winnipeg wheat market proved as weak today as it was strong yesterday. With dispatches at hand indicating that operations of the Canadian government-sponsored wheat pools would remain a mystery. Special notice was also taken of failure of the Liverpool wheat market to reflect yesterday's wheat price upturns this side of the Atlantic.

Wheat in Chicago closed weak at almost the day's bottom level, 11-11 under yesterday's finish, July 80-80 1/2, corn 1-11 down, July 81-1, oats 1 cent to 11 off, and provisions showing 7 to 30 cents decline.

Prospects of clearing weather in the United States winter wheat harvest region southwest and in the corn belt do much to promote selling of grains. Furthermore, generally favorable crop advice from the spring wheat belt were received except as to portions of North Dakota and of Saskatchewan. Numerous traders previously active as wheat buyers took to the selling side of the market as prices tumbled, with milling sources reporting but a slow demand for flour.

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElmitt © 1935, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATHARINE STRYKER, 20 and beautiful, allows her emotions to rule her life. She is MICHAEL HEATHER, young riding instructor who comes into a little and faraway. Katharine's father is rich and her stepmother is snobbish. The night following his marriage Michael is injured in a traffic accident and when he regains consciousness his memory is impaired. He forgets the marriage. Katharine, unaware of this, believes he has deserted her. She plans to leave for New Mexico and her friend, VIOLET NEISER, agrees to engage a lawyer to her absence to arrange an annulment of the marriage.

DR. JOHN KAYE, an old friend, sees Katharine off on her trip. He tells her he has always loved her.

SALLY MOON, who has snared Michael into a sort of engagement, plans for the wedding. Unaware of Michael's marriage to Katharine.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVI

DARK polished floors. Indian jars in unexpected niches. Rugs, brightly colored and geometrically gay. Thick pottery cups and a plaid cloth on a sturdy oaken table in the patio. This for the moment, was Katharine's domain.

"Silencia" was the faithful name Evelyn Herbert's friend, Mrs. Houghton, had given to her desert inn. It was informal and charming. There was always enough hot water for baths in the deep coral tub which had been brought from San Francisco five years before; there was delicious food—hot, spicy meats and crisp green salads; there were gorgeous blazings and blustering moonlight and purple nights, spangled with stars. At present Mrs. Houghton had only a few guests.

Besides Katharine there was a tall Englishman who vaguely "wrote." No one quite knew what. And there were two maiden ladies from Boston who raved about the climate and kept delicate lace shawls wrapped around their shoulders against the night air, and who read "deep" books and discussed them in cultivated accents over the luncheon table.

Katharine felt as one feels who has been to a party and who feels the stitches healing a little. The first day after her arrival she had been actually, physically ill. Evelyn Herbert had been frankly alarmed, and had spoken of sending for the girl's parents. But the quiet, the blessed peace of the place, had taken some hold on Katharine; her naturally splendid physique had asserted itself.

The little Mexican maid, Margarita, came out and began to leisurely fashion to set the table. "Only three for lunch today," she said companionably, with a flash of white teeth in a dark face, to Katharine who was sketching the angle of the creamy adobe wall with a splash of tree-shadow sharply etched against it.

"Only three?" Katharine looked up with an answering smile. "Then Mr. Delafield has gone into Santa Fe as he planned?"

MARGARITA nodded, clapping down the thin silver knives and forks and moving the amethyst tumblers into place. The little fountain splashed merrily in the silence and overhead a great bird whirled and curved in the blue arc of the sky. Katharine put down her pencil and yawned.

"Only three?" Katharine looked up with an answering smile. "Then Mr. Delafield has gone into Santa Fe as he planned?"

MARGARITA nodded, clapping down the thin silver knives and forks and moving the amethyst tumblers into place. The little fountain splashed merrily in the silence and overhead a great bird whirled and curved in the blue arc of the sky. Katharine put down her pencil and yawned.

John was fond of saying, "add deeply. This was living—really living. Work that you liked and good food and sleep when your body ached with weariness.

Margarita clapped over the flags of the courtyard on her cheap noisy heels, and the girl was left alone again. Presently Miss Daisy Ingram, the younger of the Boston sisters, would come out with her book and her lorgnette. Evelyn Vincent who had been playing the old-fashioned grand piano would take a tray up to Miss Roxana Ingram who had a headache. Over all would be silence and ineffable peace.

Katharine's sketch was coming out right. Her work was really improving. One of these days she would have a letter from Violet, saying the tangle at home was straightened out. . . . but she mustn't think of that now.

"How about going over to the Millards for tea today?" Miss Vincent wanted to know, strolling out into the patio.

"I don't know," Katharine yawned. "I had a book to read and I thought I'd nap. And then I ought to write a note to my father."

Evelyn Vincent smiled. "This place is getting you. You won't want to stir away from it," she prophesied. "After I get back to New York I always have the deuce of a time getting into harness again."

Katharine thought, "but I'm not going back."

"This is Friday," Miss Vincent mused. "Funny, you even lose track of the days here. Well, why don't you come along? Dirk Millard is one of the finest mural painters I know. You ought to know him. He says there's a class you should join."

THEY sat down, still talking in dilatory fashion, and Miss Daisy appeared, stammering and refined as ever, with her bright, intelligent blue eyes sparkling under a mass of stiff white hair and her dotted swiss crisp and unfashionable. The talk went on over an omelet and salad, over bloomy purple figs in a bowl lined with that heavenly shade of turquoise glaze. Katharine joined in the conversation dreamily, very well then, she would go to the Millards for tea.

Later Katharine had just a glance at the book, but it seemed stale and dull to her. The people were all busy saying clever things. There was a fox-hunting country background, and she tired of it quickly. Nobody, she thought rebelliously as she shut the covers, wrote of any real things now-days. They were all busy making epigrams or shocking you or something. . . .

She resolutely turned down the blue cover on her narrow, dark oak bed in the cool, cell-like room, and lay down to nap. She would shut out all unpleasant thoughts. She simply would not let them fly about, like midges to torment her. She lay there, still in her rumpled thin frock, her arms locked behind her head. Where was Michael Heather now? On the high seas, probably, bound toward the British Isles and his fabulous inheritance. Well, that part of her life was over and done with. It had been a mad interlude. It didn't, as John was fond of saying, "add up." It didn't make sense. The sooner she forgot about it, the better for her.

She had not expected to fall asleep, but she did. Perhaps it was because she had slept rather badly the night before.

When she awoke Miss Vincent was tapping at her door. "Aren't you coming, my dear? The Millards will be disappointed."

Well, she might as go. It would be something to do.

What were the lines of that poem of Margaret Widdemars she had read some ago, not realizing the truth of it?

"They're flowers and cakes and candlelight,
And chairs by crowded choir,
And I am very sweet and kind
Because I do not care . . .
I think that I am hoping still,
If I am very good,
And talk to these sound me
As a courteous lady should.
The room will softly split across
And roll to left and right
With all its smiling pasteboard folks
And colored things and lights
And let me run into the grass
And climb a sunset hill,
And find three hours one year ago,
When I was living still."

Well, that was the way you felt. You talked and smiled and went through the motions, but it didn't really mean anything. That poem told it all.

Presently she put on a sleeveless green frock and a little belted silk jacket that matched it, and she roused her lips carefully because she was so pale, and she ran down into the patio where Evelyn Vincent was waiting.

"Dear me, aren't you splendid?"

Miss Roxana, recovered from her headache, was stretched out in a deck chair in the shade, knitting. She looked up admiringly. "All the young men will be flocking to Silencia when they know Miss Stryker is about, won't they, sister?"

Miss Daisy nodded, and Katharine smiled dutifully and thanked them both for their compliments. She went down the flagged walk to the car with a dull pain at her heart. She would rather, she told herself passionately, be like Miss Roxana, faded and elderly, interested in needlepoint and polite essays, than be herself.

People envied the young—older people did. They talked as if being young was fun in itself. But it wasn't. Not when you'd had a knife turned in your heart. Not if you met each dawn with the sick prayer that you might somehow get through the day.

Misery, a black flood of despair, flowed over her spirit. She gripped the wheel, thankful for the mechanical business of steering the little car over the vile roads. Her companion settled back to enjoy the scenery.

"You don't mind coming, Katharine? I really think you'll enjoy it."

She made some suitable reply. But in her inmost heart she was convinced of one thing. There would never be any real enjoyment for her in this world again. Not while Michael existed, at any rate.

CONSTITUTION OF U.S. TALKED OF INSTRUCTORS FOR DEAF

Carl E. Robinson Discusses Benefits At Club Session

Attorney Carl E. Robinson addressed the members of the Lion's Club last night concerning the constitution of the United States. The benefits of the constitution are so fundamental and common, stated the speaker, that the average person does not realize how pertinent the document is to our life. Mr. Robinson in his speech pointed out the relationship of the constitution to our everyday existence.

In regard to the origin of the constitution, Attorney Robinson said that the principles embodied in it were not the result of any spontaneous insurgency upon the part of the members of the constitutional convention, but that they go back a thousand years into English history and had been tried and proven on the battle field and in former types of governments.

The period of American history just before the adoption of the constitution, from the Battle of Yorktown in 1781 to the convention in 1787, was America's darkest period, stated Mr. Robinson. The depression of those days was even worse than that of the last few years. The American soldiers were unpaid and mutinied. Even the rich land-owner George Washington was unable to pay his debts. The states had all the power the Federal Government now has. The convention was originally called to revise the old articles of the Federation under which they lived, but resulted in the Constitution of the United States. They met in May, 1787, and convened until September. Washington, always punctual, was the first to arrive and was made president of the convention. He and Benjamin Franklin were the only ones over fifty years of age. Thirty-one of the seventy-two members were lawyers and as a group they represented a good cross-section of American leadership. The constitution was adopted in 1789, although Rhode Island did not accept it until several years later.

Mr. Robinson closed his address by emphasizing the importance of retaining the Constitution of the United States and living up to its principles.

ARMY WORMS HARM CROPS HERE, REPORT

Worms Invade Fields Of All Crops In County; Wheat Suffers Most

Army worms in vast hordes are taking their toll of Morgan crops it was reported at the office of the Morgan county Farm Bureau yesterday. All crops are being attacked by the worms with farmers fighting to halt their depredations.

What is suffering the most from the advance of the worms, it is reported, The copious rains have resulted in fine prospects for a good crop in the county, but farmers are agreed that the worms will cut down the yield substantially.

Chinch bugs do not seem generally to be causing much damage, although one section of the county is said to be hard hit by these insects. Reports from the northeast part of the county are that there are many adult chinch bugs and numerous younger bugs at work on crops in that section.

Enforcement of the Illinois quarantine is now more important than ever, according to P. A. Glenn, chief plant inspector of the State Department of Agriculture with headquarters at Urbana. Both the federal and the Indiana state quarantine regulations, which sought to keep the borer hemmed into the known infested area, were withdrawn in 1932. At present the nearest known infestation to Illinois is in Indiana about seven miles from the eastern boundary of Will county.

The known infested area to which the import restrictions apply in one way or another includes Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana.

From all of these states the new regulations prohibit, with certain provisions, the importation into this county and others in Illinois of corn on the cob, including green, sweet corn, on the stalks or stems or corn of debris or corn or broom corn, or of stalks or stems, except shelled corn and the seeds of broom corn, the seeds of sorghum and the seeds of sudan grass. The restrictions apply to the products as such or when they are used for packing or bedding for stock cars.

From all of the states except Ohio, Michigan and Indiana the new regulations prohibit, with certain provisions, the importation of cut flowers or entire plants of chrysanthemum and aster, cut flowers or entire plants of dahlias and gladioli, except the roots and corms of these without stems; lima beans in the pod, beet with tops, and rhubarb.

Plants and plant products covered by the quarantine regulations may be admitted into this county and others in Illinois when they have been manufactured or treated in such a way as to destroy all risk of introducing the borer. The designated flowers, beans, peas and rhubarb from the restricted area must carry a certificate showing that they have been inspected and found free of the borer by a state inspector in the state of origin or by a federal inspector.

No restrictions are placed on the movement into Illinois counties of green corn on the cob during the period January 1 to June 14, inclusive, nor on the movement of the designated flowers from January 1 to April 30.

Under certain restrictions green sweet corn and mature ear corn may be admitted into Illinois from 28 Indiana counties that are not infested with the borer.

DR. MILTON GLASCOE, Of This City Named By Federal Jurors

On Program of Convention of Instructors for Deaf

Springfield, Ill., June 19.—(P)—Indictments charging violation of the postal laws were returned by the federal grand jury today against A. C. Littlejohn of Springfield and three associates in the promotion of insurance companies.

Littlejohn is former president of the National Aid Society. Named with him were Henson C. Robinson, Hugo W. Greb and Frank A. Aulen.

Postal inspectors had investigated Littlejohn's connection with several insurance companies. He and his associates recently sold the National Aid Society of Indiana and the National Aid Society of Colorado, with executive offices here, to Dudley J. LeBlanc of La Fayette, La.

Littlejohn and his alleged associates were charged in the 38-page indictment of 122 counts with permitting applicants to accept the by-laws of the "Society," without knowing what they were.

Charges were also made that the men had urged the "aged and infirm" to subscribe, giving them the impression they were insured when in reality there was no benefit to be had, federal officials said.

The indictment said headquarters was maintained in Springfield, but transactions had occurred in other states, making it difficult for suits to be brought.

Indictments returned by the grand jury included three for sending extortion letters. They named Oliver Walters of Decatur, who was alleged to have sought $600 from Mrs. Helen Tedrick under threat of kidnapping her child; E. L. Barlett of Quincy, named for allegedly attempting to extort money from Mrs. Adolph Mayne of St. Louis, and Allen James Brunk of East Alton.

Roy Grant of Springfield, arrested recently in New York, was indicted for allegedly embezzling more than $10,000 from the Illinois National Bank here.

The Carolee Products Company of Litchfield was indicted for alleged violation of the federal milk act.

Indictments charging failure to keep records of sales of morphine were returned against Dr. Francis M. Thurman of Pearl and Dr. Milton Glascoe of Jacksonville. Dr. A. Lee Alderson of Pana was indicted for allegedly making illegal sales of morphine.

Louis Renfro of Decatur, who saved his way out of the Danville jail a few months ago and recently escaped from the Springfield city jail, and Neal Barker, Herbert Deaton, Nolan Duck and Raymond Eschebach, who escaped from the jail here with him, were indicted for violation of the Dyer act.

Indictments charging violation of the internal revenue act were voted against Louis Zambory of Granite City, Anthony Zavailla of Collinsville, Otto H. Summering of Mt. Olive, Minnie Sandage of MacLean county, Theodore Rozyczka of Madison, Tony Rosini of Nokomis, Walter S. Pieper of Schuyler county, Henry J. Meints of Adams county, John Majaska of Madison, Andy Klavara of Livingston, Mattie Griesby of Taylorville, Steve Kayich of Madison, and Antonio Chatas of Montgomery county.

LEGION AUXILIARY HOLDS MEETING HERE LAST NIGHT

Miss Ann Yowell entertained her bridge club this afternoon. Four tables were in play. Miss Mary Beth Husted and Miss Lois Thompson winning prizes for high score.

ENTERTAIN AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Fitzsimmons of west of the city entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner last evening at their home.

Guests present included Mrs. H. C. McCracken, Decatur; Mrs. Walter W. Brown, Joanne and Billy Brown, Evansville, Indiana; Mrs. C. Wagoner and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sandberg.

DR. IGNATIUS BJORLEE, Superintendent of the Maryland School for the Deaf, yesterday reported on certification of training centers for teachers of the deaf.

PROTECT CORN FROM BORERS

Quarantine Regulations Are Set Up To Prohibit Importation

New measures to protect Morgan county's 126,000 acres of corn and the crop of the rest of the state against the destructive European corn borer have been set up in quarantine regulations of the Illinois State Department of Agriculture prohibiting the importation of corn and other carrier plants and plant products into Illinois from territory known to be infested with the pest.

Copies of the governor's proclamation setting forth the new regulations have just been received by Farm Adviser I. E. Paret from the extension services of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Enforcement of the Illinois quarantine is now more important than ever, according to P. A. Glenn, chief plant inspector of the State Department of Agriculture with headquarters at Urbana. Both the federal and the Indiana state quarantine regulations, which sought to keep the borer hemmed into the known infested area, were withdrawn in 1932. FARM BUREAU DISCUSSION LEADERS MEET

Series Of Contests Talked At Conference Held In City

At a discussion leaders conference held at the Farm Bureau offices here preparations were made for a series of discussion contests to be held this fall. The Illinois Rural Discussion team tournament finals will be held during Farm and Home week, January 13 to 17, and plans for entering teams from this county are being made.

The meeting here was in charge of D. E. Linstrum, who gave a model discussion. Nearly seventy persons attended the conference here, twenty of those in attendance being from Morgan county.

Each county participating will have a team chairman and three discussion guides. Rural communities may enter one or more teams in the county contests.

The subject under discussion is "How Should Agriculture Control Its Production." The background of the discussions is that free discussion is necessary for the maintenance of a real democracy.

Today G. S. Randall, state club leader, will speak at the meeting of the local Kiwanis club, whose members will act as hosts to Four-H club groups of the county. Friday evening of this week the Waverly unit of the Farm Bureau will hold its monthly meeting at the home of W. O. Sims, one-half mile south of Waverly. Kenneth Keolinger will act as chairman of the meeting.
